CITY HEALTH OFFICER FIGHT NOT SETTLED

Lawyers for Dr. T. M. Barnett Argue Before Council But That Body passes Resolution that no Action be taken in Dispute.

That it will take the grinding of the courts and the slow process of the law to unravel the controversy which has enveloped around who is or who is not City Health Officer of Dothan, was clearly demonstrated when City Council passed a resolution last night to take no action in the matter.

Although more law was read than "John saw," the question now is no nearer a solution than previously, and there seems to be no hope of effecting a compromise.

Lawyer T. M. Espy explained briefly that according to his understanding of the facts, as they had been presented to him by the County Medical Board, that this society was correct in its position of recommending Dr. Barnett for the years 1914 and 1915, and that Dr. Barnett is the legally constituted Health Officer of this city.

Lawyer E. S. Thigpen read a great deal of law on the subject, and made a strong plea that the claims of his client be recognized without the case being taken to the courts, but in vain.

Dr. W. H. Sanders, State Health Officer, added his voice in favor of the medical society's contention, and went to some length in explaining his litigation in the courts, which was decided in his favor, but to no avail.

Then City Attorney E. H. Hill stated the position of the City, explaining as he interpreted the matter, that Dr. Barnett's term expired with the passing of the old administration, and that the City has no Health Officer.

Lawyer E. S. Thigpen made formal demand that salary be paid Dr. Barnett for the months of October and September, this year, and that Council decide there whether they will admit or deny this claim. Council voted to take no action in the matter, which left the controversy unchanged, in so far as Council is concerned.

In his argument City Attorney Hill claimed that there was a different interpretation or construction of the law between the counsel for Dr. Barnett and the city attorney, and that the courts might as well pass on the question.

HERE IS WISDOM

Cotton-Underwriting History for the last sixty years dictates the wisdom of A. D. 1914 placing his Cotton Legacy to A. D. 1915 under the protection of the "ROYAL RED SHIELD."

Two thousand fire companies have retired or failed in the last 40 years, but the Fire Tests of Sixty Cotton Seasons have never impaired the stability of the "ROYAL," it goes from the Old Year to the New the "Leading Fire Company of the World."

LET'S SCREEN THE STANDPIPE

While the question of pure water is mentioned at times wouldn't this be a good time to screen the top of the standpipe?

You know during the summer, it might get a foot deep in bugs, for, as you know, a light burns at the top of the standpipe, and you know how the arc lights on the streets draw bugs and flies. You know the bugs which the children call "electric light bugs" are as big as a tom-tit and they gather around a light in the summer in great numbers. It wouldn't take long to get too many bugs and insects in the standpipe.

Of course, if we are going to drink bug-soup, we want to know how it's prepared.

It may be that the water is perfectly sweet and pure, down at the bottom, we double it, somehow, and think the city should put a poultry netting wire over it and then put on top of that, about a 14-wire screen to hold back the smaller bugs and bats.

It wouldn't be expensive, and we believe it would do something toward keeping the water pure.

GETS LICENSE TO WED COLUMBIA LADY

Charles H. Tomlinson of Abington, Ala., called at the Probate Office today for the purpose of obtaining a marriage license to wed Mrs. Calie L. French, of Columbia, who is well known in Dothan society.

Mr. Tomlinson, who is prominent in Masonic circles, even as his fiancee is a leader in Eastern Star work, was accompanied by his friend, W. J. Rettroe, of this city. The wedding, which will take place soon, will be an interesting event not only to the people in Columbia, where the bride lives, but in Dothan where she has many friends, and in other parts of the State where both are known.

RESULTS TELL.

There Can be No Doubt About the Results in Dothan.

Results tell the tale. All doubt is removed. The testimony of a Dothan citizen can be easily investigated.

What better proof can be had? S. M. Brown, Sr., farmer, 712 S. St. Andrews street, Dothan, says: "I was in such bad shape from kidney disease that doctors held out no hope for me. I was confined to the house for over two months and was hardly able to move hand or foot. The kidney secretions were painful in passage and my body was swollen, twice its normal size. Death would have been welcome. I tried Doan's Kidney Pills and after the first week, I noticed improvement. In two months I was well."

Two Armed Heroes Look For Burglar

Five women alone in a house, a raised window, a door partly open, the proverbial fear of bold burglars with big pistols, black masks, flash lights and files to say nothing of the nitro glycerine and other things too numerous to mention—and a little gust of wind!

Slam! went the door. Burglars! thought the women. A painful silence ensued. All was quiet. One could have heard a sledge hammer drop. The suspense was "turbid." Finally, one of the ladies went to the telephone, and in a low voice called a neighbor's house and said: "There's a man in our house, can't you send some one here?"

Then it was that our hero—pardon—two heroes, appeared upon the scene, one with a shotgun and the other with a revolver. The big hero was in his sock feet, thereby exposing those tender members to the ground itch. That is the pathos of the story.

Anyway, the big hero took a position on the side porch while the little hero went into the room looking for the boogymen. Imagine the disappointment of our hero! There was not a burglar in sight. But the little gust of wind had done its work for the door was shut.

Yes, Pauline, this actually took place in Dothan last night.

CHRISTMAS TREE TOMORROW NIGHT

There will be a Christmas tree at the Presbyterian church tomorrow evening at 7 o'clock, and old Santa Claus will be on hand to distribute presents. All the children of the Sunday School have been requested to bring some article, an apple, orange, nuts, or candies, which will be sent to the orphanage maintained by the Presbyterian church.

Dr. Barton J. Powell of Stockton, Cal., says that the feather of the ordinary mountain quail is as effective as a powerful x-ray machine in enabling one to see the bones of the hand. An old Indian in the Sierra Nevadas pointed out this fact to Dr. Powell. The Indian said that the quail feather had long been used by his tribesmen as an aid in setting bones.

PLACED UNDER BOND.

DANDRUFF SOON BURNS THE HAIR

Makes It Lifelike, Dull, Dry, Brittle and Thin.

Girls—if you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't. It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid soap; apply it at night when you're in bed; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

Must Notify Patron If Water is Cut Off From Power Plant

That city water for the Atlantic Company had on previous occasions been cut off without the light plant having given notice that this would be done, and that this might leave the boilers in a dangerous condition, jeopardizing human lives, was the complaint made before City Council last night by T. A. Ward, superintendent of the compress company.

Mr. Ward explained that with heavy steam underway, and the supply of water to the boilers being cut off without notice, might cause them to become dangerously dry, and result in an explosion.

Alderman Grant offered a motion, which found a ready second, that in the future the superintendent of the light plant be instructed to notify the compress company before the water supply is cut off, and the resolution was adopted.

Mr. Ward said that the Atlantic Company had considered constructing their own water and light plant, but that he had not endorsed this idea, preferring to buy water and lights from the city, but unless relief was offered, he would have to recommend that his company send back no tags to Bordeaux.

Though mails are not running regularly from the front, though in certain places where the military situation is delicate, privates are forbidden to write at all, most soldiers manage by hook or crook to send letters home. When the letters stop—the family fear the worst.

KAISER GOES TO THE FRONT DESPITE DOCTOR'S WISH

London, Dec. 21.—Emperor William's departure for the front announced yesterday, is said by the Exchange Telegraph company's correspondent at Amsterdam to have been decided upon against the advice of the emperor's physician. The military chiefs, however, insisted, the correspondent adds, that the emperor spend Christmas with his troops and he so decided.

WOMAN TELLS POLICE OF MURDER IN HOTEL

Cleveland, Ohio, Dec. 21.—William J. Troy, 50, proprietor of several hotels, was found stabbed to death today in a room in the Troy hotel.

The police was apprised of his death by an unidentified woman who announced over the telephone:

"Our old friend Troy is dead—he was stabbed in his own hotel. Better come over and look at him."

Examination of Troy's body at the morgue revealed that two of supposed knife cuts were bullet wounds. The police have abandoned the suicide theory.

"THE LOOKED FOR HOUSE"

Why No News Is Bad News in France

Will Irwin, special war correspondent for The American Magazine, contributes another war article to the January number. Its title is "Life Off to France," and in it he tells of the courage and thrift of the French and of their stoicism under the pressure of great grief. In the following extract taken from the article he tells of the suspense endured by families in getting the news from their relatives at the front:

"Unlike Germany and England, France does not publish death lists. Any relative of a French soldier may register at the Marie a request for news of the worst. Each French soldier goes into action with a numbered tag of identification about his neck. When he dies in action or in hospital, this is taken from him and compared with his number in the official lists. From the military government in Bordeaux to his own district the news goes by post. Waiting for the mails is anxious business in these days."

Mr. Ward explained that with heavy steam underway, and the supply of water to the boilers being cut off without notice, might cause them to become dangerously dry, and result in an explosion.

Alderman Grant offered a motion, which found a ready second, that in the future the superintendent of the light plant be instructed to notify the compress company before the water supply is cut off, and the resolution was adopted.

Mr. Ward said that the Atlantic Company had considered constructing their own water and light plant, but that he had not endorsed this idea, preferring to buy water and lights from the city, but unless relief was offered, he would have to recommend that his company send back no tags to Bordeaux.

Though mails are not running regularly from the front, though in certain places where the military situation is delicate, privates are forbidden to write at all, most soldiers manage by hook or crook to send letters home. When the letters stop—the family fear the worst.

BAINBRIDGE TRAIN ON.

During the holiday season, trains 187 and 188, over the Atlantic Coast Line railroad, from Dothan to Bainbridge, Ga., will be in operation, these trains having been taken off sometime ago. Train 188 will leave this city at 7 o'clock in the morning, and 189 will arrive from Bainbridge at 7:45 at night.

SURVIVOR OF BATTLE KILLED IN COAL CHUTE

Pittsburg, Dec. 21.—After emerging unscathed from a number of battles while serving under the Russian colors, Joseph Kaminski deserted, made a perilous trip to a seaport, boarded a steamer as a stowaway and came to America, only to meet death three days after arriving here. Kaminski was employed at a coal chute and was killed yesterday when he fell and was buried under tons of coal.

FIRE DESTROYS FIVE HOUSES AT 4TH AND LEE

The store and residence of Mack Shivers and three small adjoining negro houses, East Broadshaw street, were destroyed by fire of unknown origin last night at 12 o'clock, entailing a loss estimated at $1,000 with no insurance.

The fire department made a quick run to the fire, which was outside the water limits. However, hose was attached to an acid plant plug and a stream of water was turned on several houses in the fire zone. The house after could not be reached with the water.

METHODIST MINISTER KILLED ON RAILROAD

Durham, N. C., Dec. 21.—Rev. Leslie P. Howard, pastor of the Duke Memorial church here, and one of the best known Methodist ministers in North Carolina, was killed in a railroad accident at Kingston, N. Distinctly Bad Press Work

For Lee Frank.

Lakeland (Fla.) Democrat.

Most people complain of the law's delays, but not so Lee Frank. He apparently wants all of them he can get to postpone that grim and dreadful hour when the Georgia judge has said that he shall pay society the full price for the slaying of Mary Frank.

All this rot in Collier's Weekly and other publications about prejudice against the Jews having anything to do with the conviction of Frank is a stupid, shameless and malicious falsehood. There isn't any part of the world where Hebrew descent encounter less racial prejudice than in the South. There is so little of it that it is negligible in both business and social relations and Frank's press agents are doing distinctly poor work for their man when they make the appeal in his behalf that the jury was influenced by race prejudice in bringing in a verdict.

We know the juries of the South well, and God knows they have faults enough as agents of justice, but most emphatically they do not bring in verdicts of guilty against defendants, especially on capital charges, because of race prejudice or anything except the facts in the case as they see them. They turn an army of guilty men loose, more's the pity, but they don't convict the innocent.

We don't know whether Frank is innocent or guilty—he is almost certainly guilty—but we do know that no man on the jury, which convicted him cared whether he was a Jew or Gentile or permitted question of his Hebrew lineage to have any influence in forming the verdict. Frank's legal and press friends over-played their hand in this matter and they ought to hedge. If they can't establish a reasonable doubt of his guilt the verdict ought to stand, and he should be left with his appeal to the governor for commutation of sentence.

Christmas Presents.

By George Fitch.

A Christmas gift is a contrivance for making a person glad he's alive on the 25th of December.

This necessitates a wide variation in the Christmas gift. Some people can be made extremely happy and content with an upholstered book of poems and a souvenir card, while on the other hand if often takes a five-hundred dollar set of furs and a pearl necklace to coax a four candle power smile out of the young lady of the family who has just come home from a varnishing school where they put a hard metal finish on the emotions.

A 25-cent doll with curly hair judiciously combined with a 2-year-old girl will produce so much unalloyed joy on Christmas morning that the overflow will illuminate a whole family for hours and a square meal with turkey playing center on the menu will often make the remnants of a man brace up on Christmas afternoon and decide to tackle the tough old world for one more dogfall.

Thus it will be seen that the Christmas present is extremely useful. Yet nothing is more dangerous in careless hands. In addition to a kind heart, brains must be liberally applied to the task of picking out presents. The world on Christmas morning is full of tired and discouraged fathers who are trying to explain to their eager wives and daughters that they really do not care to smoke for a day or two and that the doctor has forbidden them to wear crocheted neckties for fear of overprotecting the throat. Too many of us pick out Christmas presents for our loved ones and then stand around with a firm, determined air until they consent to enjoy them no matter how much suffering it may entail.

Picking out Christmas presents should be a reduction in all probability will be a reduction in the amount spent for fertilizers next year. These big fertilizer debts hang heavily over the farmers when such a slump in the price of cotton comes along.

Bad Condition.

It is regretful indeed that there should have been such recklessness in the management of our state financial affairs that even the thought of a $2,000,000,000 bonded indebtedness would have been dreamed of much less entertained. The tax payers of Alabama are not satisfied with any such before, and to send the expensive cigar-lighting outfit to the humble friend who has been scratching matches on the mantel-piece for twenty years. Both will then be equally impressed.

Giving Christmas presents to those who need them is one of the world's greatest in-and-out door sports. Never were the opportunities so good in this line as this winter. A five-dollar chased-silver cigarette case given to a friend will keep him grateful for twenty-four hours, but five dollars deposited in the right place will keep a Belgian widow alive for thirty days.

The Montgomery Advertiser carried 1,352 inches of whiskey advertising in last Sunday's issue. It is reported that the Advertiser is opposed to prohibition.

A CHRISTMAS LEGEND.

There is a little legend, which orient nations tell. That when the earth is joyous with song of Christmas bell, Unseen the Christ-Child wanders among the suffering dumb, And brings them joyful tidings of kinder years to come.

For was He not once sheltered with cattle of the stall? And does He not remember Earth's helpless creatures all? And did the Star not beckon Above them on that night, Instead of o'er a palace? Ahame with gorgeous light?

Alice Jean Cleator.

Mr. John Ellis who has been attending the Atlanta Medical College is spending the holidays with his parents, Dr. and Mrs. J. Ellis.

sponsors, but chiefly the women have been responsible for the rapid growth of this new form of making the most out of Christmas.

In Beloit, Wisconsin, last year, the city's Federation of Women originated and directed the celebration, enlisting the aid and assistance of the mayor, judge of the municipal court and other city officials. That municipal celebration will long be remembered. As the mayor touched the electric button, the great tree flashed out in the dark night with its brilliant light and the voices of the choir boys rose high in the stillness. Out of the distance came the singers, advancing slowly to the tree and encircling it, their song becoming more and more distinct, clearer and clearer, until the very atmosphere became electrified with the spirit of the new community Christmas.

Many of these community Christmas trees are not for a single night or for but one year. Here and there the movement has led to the planting of large evergreens which are to remain the permanent Christmas trees of the community for years and years to come. This was one of the results of the women's Christmas tree in Beloit, Wis. So successful and so appreciated was the 1914 tree that the city council purchased a fine tree and set it out in the city park to be the permanent rallying place of the citizens on Christmas eve. In Newark, Ohio, the labor unions have taken charge of the community Christmas tree celebration and have set out a large tree in the courthouse square, which will be used for the first time this month.

The first municipal Christmas tree in Syracuse, N. Y., was planned and carried out by the women of the Consumers' League, aided by the business men's organization and other public bodies. The 50-foot tree used was given by the State School of Forestry and was set up by the superintendent of parks in a central location. The lighting company furnished hundreds of lights and free current for the entire holiday week. Local singers, church choirs, college professors, teachers and children gave their service willingly and efficiently to make the event a success. A feature was a story telling period for the little folks and a specially trained story teller was in charge.

It would be impossible to give anything like the full credit due women in many cities for their aid in the Christmas tree movement which has become so popular in two short years. The Congress of Mothers had charge of a very successful tree in Providence, R. I., last year. In cases a single woman, working unaided has provided her city with such a

NEAR DEATH BY SMOOTHERING

But Husband, With Aid of Cardi, Effects Her Deliverance.

Draper, N. C.—Mrs. Helen Dalton, of this place, says: "I suffered for years, with pains in my left side, and would often almost smother to death.

Medicines pained me up for awhile, but then I would get worse again. Finally, my husband decided he wanted me to try Cardi, the woman's tonic, so he bought me a bottle and I began using it. It did me more good than all the medicines I had taken."

I have induced many of my friends to try Cardi, and they all say they have been benefited by its use. There never has been, and never will be, a medicine to compare with Cardi. I believe it is a good medicine for all womanly troubles."

For over 50 years, Cardi has been relieving woman's sufferings and building weak women up to health and strength. If you are a woman, give it a fair trial. It should surely help you, as it has a million others."

Get a bottle of Cardi to-day.

Christmas with a Long "L."

By Ruth Cameron in the Savanah News.

If we pronounced the "L" in Christmas long instead of short, I wonder if we should still be able to forget and ignore the meaning of the day so completely as many of us seem to do.

Christmas is the anniversary of Christ's birthday. That is a perfectly simple and obvious fact (although, being, most of us, strangely ashamed of our religion we do not often speak of such things openly.) But how many people really sense that fact? And how many people live it into their holiday season?

Love is the first law of the Lord of Christmas. Though we wear ourselves out sewing, embroidering, knitting and all the rest; though we spend our last penny and bankrupt ourselves for weeks to come on Christmas gifts; though we consider our friends' tastes and give them the things they like and not what we like or think is good for them; though we tie up our bundles with plenty of red ribbon and holly and forget not the Red Cross stamp; though we painstakingly remember the poor; though we do all these things and do not put the spirit of love and happiness and peace and good will into our Christmas, we have assuredly failed to celebrate the King's Birthday as He would wish.

Suppose this year we make a greater effort than usual not to forget what all this celebration is about.

In our preparation for the day, in the tired-out-ness of the night before, through all the excitement of the day itself and through the difficult antediluvian of the day after, let's try not to lose sight of the fact that this isn't just gift-giving day, but Christmas—with a long "L."

Let's determine that we will put on extra guard on our tongues and not let slip a single unkind or impatient word through all the Christmas season.

In this coming week let us keep the ideal of "Peace on Earth Good Will Towards Men" constantly in our hearts. Let us absolutely refuse to permit this to be a season of hurry and worry, of calculations and heart-burnings and mercenary thoughts. Let us, instead, make the Christmas of 1914 a season of old hates buried and old friendships renewed, of greater courtesy and kindness towards those with whom we come into casual contact, of unusual consideration for all those who serve us and of special tenderness and love towards those who are always at the core of our hearts but whose very nearness makes us careless of expressed affection.

"Love me and tell me so sometimes," says Gail Hamilton. Could there be a better time to tell it than the season that is sacred to the Lord of Love?
